FROM THE PUBLIC LEDGER, JULY 10, 1771.

To his Grace the Duke of GRAFTON.

MY LORD,

THE influence of your Grace's fortune ſtill ſeems to preſide over the Treaſury.---The genius of Mr. Bradſhaw inſpires Mr. Robinſon. How remarkable it is, (and I ſpeak of it not as matter of reproach, but as ſomething peculiar to your character) that you have never yet formed a friendſhip, which has not been fatal to the object of it, nor adopted a cauſe, to which, one way or other, you have not done miſchief. Your attachment is infamy while it laſts, and which ever way it turns, leaves ruin and diſgrace behind it. The deluded Girl, who yields to ſuch a profligate, even while he is conſtant, forfeits her reputation as well as her innocence, and finds herſelf abandoned at laſt to miſery and ſhame.----Thus it happened with the beſt of Princes.---Poor Dingley too!---I proteſt I hardly know which of them we ought moſt to lament:---The unhappy man, who ſinks under the ſenſe of his diſhonour, or him who ſurvives it. Characters, ſo finiſhed, are placed beyond the reach of panegyric. Death has fixed his ſeal upon Dingley, and you, my Lord, have ſet your mark upon the other.

The only Letter I ever addreſſed to the King was ſo unkindly received, that I believe I ſhall never preſume to trouble his Majeſty, in that way, again. But my zeal for his ſervice is ſuperior to neglect, and like Mr. Wilkes's patriotiſm, thrives by perſecution. Yet his Majeſty is much addicted to uſeful reading, and, if I am not ill informed, has honoured the Public Adverti ſer with particular attention. I have endeavoured therefore, and not without ſucceſs, (as perhaps you may remember) to furniſh it with ſuch intereſting and edifying intelligence, as probably would not reach him through any other channel. The ſervices you have done the Nation,---your integrity in office, and ſignal fidelity to your approved good Maſter, have been faithfully recorded. Nor have his own virtues been intirely neglected. Theſe Letters, my Lord, are read in other Countries and in other languages; and I think I may affirm without vanity, that the gracious character of the beſt of Princes is by this time not only perfectly known to his ſubjects, but tolerably well underſtood by the reſt of Europe. In this reſpect alone, I have the advantage of Mr. Whitehead. His plan, I think, is too narrow. He ſeems to manufacture his verſes for the ſole uſe of the Hero, who is ſuppoſed to be the ſubject of them, and that his meaning may not be unlawfully exported in foreign bottoms, ſets all tranſlation at defiance.

Your Grace's re-appointment to a Seat in the Cabinet was announced to the Public by the ominous return of Lord Bute to this Country. When that noxious Planet approaches England, he never fails to bring plague and peſtilence along with him. The King already feels the malignant effect of your influence over his Councils. Your former adminiſtration made Mr. Wilkes an Alderman of London, and Repreſentative of Middleſex. Your next appearance in Office is marked with his Election to the Shrievalty. In whatever meaſure you are concerned, you are not only diſappointed of ſucceſs, but always contrive to make the Government of the beſt of Princes contemptible in his own eyes, and ridiculous to the whole world. Making all due allowance for the effect of the Miniſter's declared interpoſition, Mr. Robinſon's activity, and Mr. Horn's new zeal in ſupport of adminiſtration, we ſtill want the Genius of the Duke of Grafton to account for committing the whole intereſt of Government in the City, to the conduct of Mr. Harley. I will not bear hard upon your faithful Friend and Emiſſary Mr. Touchet, for I know the difficulties of his ſituation, and that a few Lottery Tickets are of uſe to his œconomy. There is a proverb concerning perſons in the predicament of this Gentleman, which however cannot be ſtrictly applied to him. They commence Dupes, and finiſh Knaves. Now Mr. Touchet's character is uniform. I am convinced that his ſentiments never depended upon his circumſtances, and that, in the moſt proſperous ſtate of his fortune, he was always the very man he is at preſent.---But was there no other perſon of rank and conſequence in the City, whom Government could confide in, but a notorious Jacobite? Did you imagine that the whole body of Diſſenters, that the whole Whig intereſt of London would attend at the levy, and ſubmit to the directions of a notorious Jacobite? Was there no Whig Magiſtrate in the City, to whom the Servants of George the Third could intruſt the management of a buſineſs ſo very intereſting to their Maſter as the Election of Sheriffs? Is there no room at St. James's, but for Scotchmen and Jacobites?----My Lord, I do not mean to queſtion the ſincerity of Mr. Harley's attachment to his Majeſty's Government. Since the commencement of the preſent reign, I have ſeen ſtill greater contradictions reconciled. The principles of theſe worthy Jacobites, are not ſo abſurd as they have been repreſented. Their ideas of divine right are not ſo much annexed to the perſon or family, as to the political character of the Sovereign. Had there ever been an honeſt Man among the Stuarts, his Majeſty's preſent Friends would have been Whigs upon principle. But the converſion of the beſt of Princes has removed their ſcruples. They have forgiven him the ſins of his Hanoverian Anceſtors, and acknowledge the hand of Providence in the deſcent of the Crown upon the head of a true Stuart. In you, my Lord, they alſo behold, with a kind of predilection, which borders upon loyalty, the natural Repreſentative of that illuſtrious family. The mode of your deſcent from Charles the Second is only a bar to your pretenſions to the Crown, and no way interrupts the regularity of your ſucceſſion to all the virtues of the Stuarts.

The unfortune ſucceſs of the Reverend Mr. Horn's endeavours, in ſupport of the Miniſterial nomination of Sheriffs, will I fear obſtruct his preferment. Permit me to recommend him to your Grace's protection. You will find him copiouſly gifted with thoſe qualities of the heart, which uſually direct you in the choice of your friendſhips. He too was Mr. Wilkes's friend, and as incapable as you are of the liberal reſentment of a Gentleman. No, my Lord,---it was the ſolitary, vindictive malice of a Monk, brooding over the infirmities of his Friend, until he thought they quickened into public life; and feaſting, with a rancorous rapture, upon the ſordid catalogue of his diſtreſſes. Now, let him go back to his Cloiſter. The Church is a proper retreat for him. In his principles he is already a Biſhop.

The mention of this man has moved me from my natural moderation. Let me return to your Grace. You are the pillow, upon which I am determined to reſt all my reſentments. What idea can the beſt of Sovereigns form to himſelf of his own Government;---in what repute can he conceive that he ſtands with his People, when he ſees, beyond the poſſibility of a doubt, that whatever be the office, the ſuſpicion of his favour is fatal to the Candidate, and that when the party he wiſhes well to has the faireſt proſpect of ſucceſs, if his royal inclination ſhould unfortunately be diſcovered, it drops like an acid, and turns the Election. This event, among others, may perhaps contribute to open his Majeſty's eyes to his real honour and intereſt. In ſpite of all your Grace's ingenuity, he may at laſt perceive the inconvenience of ſelecting, with ſuch a curious felicity, every Villain in the Nation to fill the various departments of his Government. Yet I ſhould be ſorry to confine him in the choice either of his Footmen or his Friends.

JUNIUS.

NAPLES, MAY 14.

ON Thurſday laſt Mount Veſuvius began to ſend out columns of black ſmoak with loud exploſions; and ſoon after a Lava burſt forth, near the ſame ſpot where the great eruption was in the year 1767. Their Sicilian Majeſties are prepared to leave Portici at a moment's warning: But as the Lava has taken its courſe towards Reſina (the ſpot under which the ancient city of Herculaneum is buried) and does not menace Portici, it is thought the Court will not remove. The Lava is about five miles in length, has deſtroyed ſome vineyards, and is ſtopped within a mile of Reſina. Mr. Hamilton, his Britannic Majeſty's Miniſter at this Court, had the honour of conducting their Sicilian Majeſties to the Lava, which happened to be remarkably curious at the moment of their arrival, having juſt taken its courſe into a deep trench, forming a moſt aſtoniſhing caſcade of fire, the fall of which was perpendicular, and not leſs than 60 feet.

STOCKHOLM, June 4. The King of Sweden made his entry into Stockholm laſt Thurſday evening, after having dined at the laſt ſtage, a mile and a half from hence, where the Queen and the Senators had been invited to dine with him.

A triumphal arch was erected on this occaſion at the expence of the city; and the people in general expreſſed the greateſt joy at his Majeſty's arrival, and accompanied the coach from the gate to the palace, in ſuch numbers, that it got along with difficulty.

The affability with which his Majeſty received all who have paid their Court to him, cannot fail to gain him the affection of his ſubjects, and every one who has the happineſs to be admitted to his preſence.

Yeſterday the King appeared in the Senate for the firſt time, where his Majeſty repeated his aſſurances of governing according to law, and of uſing his beſt endeavours to render his people happy. And that every body may have eaſy acceſs to him, he has ſet apart an hour, three days in the week, to receive all perſons, of what rank ſoever, who deſire admittance.

VENICE, June 1. According to our laſt advices from the Archipelago, the Iſles of Paros, Milo, Naxos, and Tine, are in the hands of the Ruſſians, to whom the inhabitants pay tribute, and furniſh their fleet with all neceſſaries. Three ſquadrons of their fleet are ſtationed at Paros, having on board 2500 men. Brigadier Borſch is cruiſing before the Dardanelles, and Admiral Arff near Smyrna. The other ſhips are cruiſing in different ſtations, in order to intercept any convoys from being ſent to the Turks, and to hinder the commerce of the Dulcignotes and Raguſans.

MARSEILLES, June 21. Letters from Acre, by Capt. Fournier, informs us, that the Arabs, inſtigated by the Pacha of Damaſcus, had fallen ſuddenly upon the troops from Egypt and Acre, and after cutting many of them to pieces, put the reſt to flight.

BASTIA, June 9. The French troops under Count de Marbeuf, have had a bloody action with the Malcontents on the other ſide of the mountains, and it is ſaid the former were obliged to retire with conſiderable loſs in killed and wounded. Some of their baggage is alſo fallen into the hands of the banditti.

June 13. The Count de Marbeuf is arrived at San Bonifacio, eſcorted by a picquet of cavalry, and immediately aſſembled all the officers; after which he viſited the fortifications of the place, and left orders concerning ſome additions and alterations that are to be made therein.

WARSAW, June 19. The Confederacies ſtill continue, and the Confederates commit all ſorts of exceſſes at Cowno. A party of them, however, has been beaten near Wilkomiers, and one hundred horſes taken from them. The famous Koſſakoroſki is endeavouring to eſtabliſh himſelf there, and has exhorted all the Nobility of that diſtrict to make a common cauſe with him. The Confederates have formed a kind of line at Landſcon, Tyniec and Siewiec. Count Branicki is marching with a body of 3500 men towards Cracow: And as Col. Drewitz is alſo in march, we expect intereſting news. All is in movement in Lithuania.

June 20. We are informed, that the Commandant of Couna hath prevented the effect of a general confederacy in Samagitia. A troop of 120 men, commanded by Kowaleſki, hath committed great exceſſes there. They have carried off from the Royal Treaſury at Jueberg 11,000 florins, and have treated the Jews very ill. The Commandant ſent two detachments in purſuit of them, who came up with them in a village near Roſinne, and after an obſtinate battle the Confederates fled, having loſt fifty-three men and two officers, beſides twenty taken priſoners. The Ruſſians took alſo ſome thouſands of florins in ſpecie. The reſt of the Confederates are diſperſed.

PARIS, June 30. Several prieſts are already returned here by virtue of the declaration lately made in their favour. It is aſſerted alſo, that upwards of 150 Jeſuits have entered the city, on the aſſurances given them, that they might avail themſelves of this law, provided they continued their ſecular habit. It is added, that the Archbiſhop has begun to employ ſeveral of them in the miniſtry of the goſpel; and one of the order has even preached in a pariſh church at Paris, to a vaſt concourſe of people.

DANTZICK, June 22. Yeſterday our magiſtrates aſſembled at nine o'clock in the morning, and did not break up till eight in the evening, when it was reſolved to permit, from their magazines, the free exportation of rye and wheat, reſerving only 2000 laſts of the former, and 1000 of the latter. So that we ſhall continue to export as uſual, as many veſſels are arrived with grain from Poland.

A report is this moment current, that the Pruſſian troops have ſeized on Warmia, a Province in Royal Pruſſia, and that the regiment of Anhalt has garriſoned the town of Heilſberg, the capital of the Biſhopric of that name.

HAGUE, June 28. According to authentic letters received here from Berlin, we are informed, that Prince Charles, eldeſt brother of the King of Sweden, hath eſpouſed the Princeſs Louiſa Henrietta Wilhelmina, eldeſt daughter of the Margrave Frederick Henry of Brandenburgh Schwedt. This unexpected marriage furniſhes a variety of conjectures, and, among others, it is preſumed that it is done by way of precaution, as the King has no iſſue, and it is feared will not have any by the Queen his Conſort. Theſe letters furniſh us with an anecdote which we were before ignorant of, namely, that the court of Vienna having declared to the court of Peterſburgh that ſhe will not ſuffer the two principalities of Moldavia and Wallachia to remain under the dominion of Ruſſia, this declaration had ſo piqued the Czarina that a rupture between thoſe two courts was greatly feared; but the King of Pruſſia has found means to divert the ſtorm, and bring about a reconciliation, ſo that at preſent a perfect good underſtanding ſubſiſts between them.

GOSPORT, July 7. Friday evening orders came down to the Admiral for the following ſhips to be got ready for ſea with all poſſible diſpatch, viz. the Lenox, Captain Rodham; the Royal Oak, Captain Shuldam; and the Aſia, Captain King; with the Glory frigate, and Pomona ſloop. In conſequence of the above orders, draughts of men and officers were made from the ſeveral guardſhips to compleat the complement of thoſe ordered for ſea.

LONDON, JULY 13.

IT is confidently aſſerted that Lord Chatham is now buſily employed in writing a memorial on the preſent ſtate of the nation, which he means to preſent with his own hands to the Sovereign.

We hear that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter will ſet ſail on his intended voyage to the Mediterranean the 15th of next month. His Royal Highneſs will be accompanied by General Harvey, and Colonel Deſaguilliers.

Monſieur d'Alembert, the celebrated French author, has lately been offered three thouſand pounds ſterling per annum, for undertaking the education of three of the young Ruſſian nobility, which he rejected.

This morning an expreſs arrived at the Admiralty, with the agreeable news of the arrival in the Downs of the Endeavour, Captain Cooke, from the Eaſt-Indies. This ſhip ſailed in Auguſt 1768, with Mr. Banks, Dr. Solander, Mr. Green, and other ingenious gentlemen on board, for the South ſeas, to obſerve the Tranſit of Venus; they have ſince made a voyage round the world, and touched at every coaſt and iſland, where it was poſſible to get on ſhore, to collect every ſpecies of plants and other rare productions in nature. Their voyage upon the whole has been as agreeable and ſucceſsful as they could have expected, except the death of Mr. Green, who died upon his paſſage from Batavia; Dr. Solander has been a good deal indiſpoſed, but, it is hoped a few days refreſhment will ſoon eſtabliſh his health; Capt. Cooke and Mr. Banks are perfectly well.

A petition is to be preſented, the next ſeſſion of Parliament, by a ſociety of gentlemen, for leave to bring in a bill to prevent the exportation of horſes from this kingdom.

The Lieutenant Colonel who has been ſuperſeded, has been allowed to take 4000 guineas for his commiſſion.

To-morrow evening will be debated at the Crown Tavern, Bow Lane: "If a ſtatute law ſhould at any time claſh with the common law of the land, which ſhould give way to the other in juſtice to the conſtitution." "Whether did Brutus deſerve cenſure or applauſe, for the aſſaſſination of Julius Cæſar."

JULY 16. All the foreign miniſters and their ladies are invited to be preſent at the enſuing Inſtallation of the Knights of the Garter.

On Saturday the Earl of Northington ſet out for Spa in Germany for the recovery of his health.

The Earl of Chatham is expected at his houſe in Pall-Mall on Wedneſday next, whence, it is ſaid, he will go to St. James's to wait on his Majeſty, purſuant to his deſire, whence various ſpeculations are formed among ſome of the moſt profound politicians.

This day Meſſrs. Wilkes and Bull, the Sheriffs elect, gave bond to ſerve the ſaid office.----The ſame day the Chamberlain of London was ſworn into his office.

Beds at Windſor, againſt the enſuing Inſtallation, are ſo ſcarce, that five guineas have been offered for one for a night only, and refuſed.

Yeſterday arrived in town from Portſmouth, Dr. Solander, and ------- Banks, Eſqr who lately made a voyage round the world in the Endeavour, Capt. Cooke.

Sunday laſt, Sir Charles Saunders and Admiral Keppel, dined with his Grace the Duke of Richmond at Godwood, in Suſſex, and yeſterday morning ſet out for Portſmouth.

ST. JAMES's, July 10. THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord-Mayor, the Aldermen, the Sheriffs, and the Common Council, with a Committee of the Livery of the City of London, waited upon his Majeſty, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain to his Majeſty's Houſhold, with the following Addreſs, Remonſtrance, and Petition, which was read by Sir JAMES HODGES, Town-Clerk.

To the KING's moſt Excellent MAJESTY.

The Humble ADDRESS, REMONSTRANCE, and PETITION, of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of LONDON, in Common Hall aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in the anguiſh of our hearts, beg leave to approach your Royal Perſon, and deeply to lament that we ſtill ſuffer, together with many others, all thoſe great and unparalleled grievances, which we have before ſubmitted to your Majeſty, with the hope of a full and ſpeedy redreſs from our Sovereign, as the father of his people.

The ſame arbitrary Houſe of Commons which violated the ſacred Right of Election, and ſeated among themſelves, as a Repreſentative of the people, a man who was never choſen into Parliament, have, the laſt ſeſſion, proceeded to the moſt extravagant outrages againſt the conſtitution of this kingdom, and the liberty of the ſubject, of which your Majeſty is by law the greateſt guardian. They have ventured to impriſon our chief Magiſtrate, and one of our Aldermen, for diſobeying their illegal orders, and not violating the holy ſanction of their oaths to this great city, as well as their duty to their country. They have by the moſt artful ſuggeſtions, prevailed upon your Majeſty to ſuffer your royal name to give a pretended authority to a proclamation, iſſued at their expreſs deſire, contrary to the known laws of the land. At length, they proceeded to the enormous wickedneſs of eraſing a judicial record, in order to ſtop the courſe of juſtice, and to fruſtrate all poſſibility of relief by an appeal to thoſe laws, which are the nobleſt birthright and inheritance of all the ſubjects of this realm.

unjuſt confinement of our repreſentatives, they [illegible] to a law, depriving the citizens of London of a conſiderable part of their property in the ſoil of the river Thames, [illegible]y granted to them by divers charters, and confirmed by the authority of Parliament; and, under colour of equity, inſerted in that law an unuſual ſaving clauſe, ſubverſive of the known and eſtabliſhed laws of property; they have, without any pretence of an abuſe, ſuperſeded the conſervancy of the river Thames, in the liberty, which the citizens of London have enjoyed from the conqueſt.

WE therefore, your REMONSTRANTS, again humbly ſupplicate your Majeſty to reſtore our rights, and to give peace to this diſtracted nation, by a ſpeedy Diſſolution of Parliament, and by removing your preſent wicked and deſpotic Miniſters for ever from your Councils and Preſence.

(Signed by Order) JAMES HODGES.

To which Addreſs, Remonſtrance, and Petition, his MAJESTY was pleaſed to return the following ANSWER.

I SHALL ever be ready to exert my prerogative, as far as I can conſtitutionally, in redreſſing any real grievances of my Subjects; and the city of London will always find me diſpoſed to liſten to any of their well-founded complaints: It is therefore with concern that I ſee a part of my Subjects ſtill ſo far miſled and deluded, as to renew, in ſuch reprehenſible terms, a requeſt, with which, I have repeatedly declared, I cannot comply.

LONDON, JULY 9.

Extract of a Letter from Peterſburgh, dated May 24, 1771.

"We had yeſterday the moſt melancholy ſpectacles that eyes could behold. The front line on the Vaſilly Oſtroff took fire about twelve o'clock, and burnt with inexpreſſible fury, being kept above all the efforts of human art by a ſtrong North-Eaſt wind, till near midnight; it extended nearly to the great Perſpective in the Middle of the Iſland, from the ſeventh line down to the 17th.

"Judge of our alarm; when this dreadful fire was at its height, there broke out at the ſame inſtant of time two others of no leſs magnitude, one on the Peterſburgh ſide juſt behind the Hemp-warehouſe, and the other at Colomna, juſt on this ſide of the Kalinka Bridge; and in the afternoon, about five o'clock, two more, one at the Yemſky, and the other at the Woloydaryemſky.

"It is impoſſible to deſcribe the conſternation this occaſioned in every one's face; nobody could gueſs where it might end, nor whoſe turn would come next: Our line was happily ſaved by the wind's being down to the river; had it ſet right over, every houſe in front muſt have gone, from the exceſſive heat. Since midnight every thing has been quiet, and we truſt in God we ſhall ſee no more of this dreadful diſaſter. The firſt fire on the Iſland began by accident at a Baker's, the others are ſuppoſed to have been all contrived by mercileſs wretches, to draw off and divert the people's attention, to have an opportunity of plundering the miſerable ſufferers. There have been actually found many proofs of this: What puniſhment can equal ſuch helliſh crimes?

"There are 60 brick houſes, and at leaſt 300 wooden houſes deſtroyed on the Vaſilly Oſtroff, and on the Peterſburgh ſide above 500; at Colomna 200, the two latter chiefly of wood; the other fires did leſs damage, being ſoon got under."

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated June 15.

"After the nomination of the Duke d'Aiguillon, the Abbé Terray laid before the council an eſtimate of the debts, and another of the expences, in order to enable the new miniſter to provide for the urgent want of ſpecie. The articles of the domains, out of which all the expences of ſtate priſoners, and the police are ſupplied, was abſorbed, and the King creditor to that company for ſeven hundred thouſand livres, theſe laſt ten months only, ſo that the priſons ſwarm, through the ſevere inquiſition that prevails againſt faithful ſubjects, who cannot complain without being liable to be arreſted and confined. In conſequence, commiſſaries were appointed to examine into the ſtate of expences; it was found that the charge of putting in execution a lettre de Cachet, and committing the priſoner, amounted to three hundred livres for Paris, and if he was ordered to be confined in any of the priſons in the provinces, the exempt received to conduct him there, fifty livres a day, and ten livres for aſſiſtants, excluſive of travelling charges and board till their return.

"That the King paid for the daily ſubſiſtence of every priſoner of ſtate in the Baſtile, from ten to fifty livres a day, according to the quality of the perſon, and in other royal priſons in the provinces in proportion; ſo that this part of the domain, which produces from ten to twelve millions a year, is wholly employed in enriching the police, its agents, and the governors of thoſe priſons, beſides a deficiency to the King's prejudice of one million and a half. We wait with impatience the report of the commiſſaries, after which I ſhall acquaint you with the new regulation. If every other department is ſcrutinized into, the ſame plunder will be diſcovered; and it is to be hoped that ſufficient reſources will be found to eaſe the people, which will be the only means to cure them of their prejudices againſt the new miniſter. God grant it may be ſo; every body hopes that gradual diſcoveries will be made of the malverſations of thoſe who cabal ſo much to get at the helm. Thus you ſee every thing is made a traffic of in France as well as in England: There is nothing but plundering and thieving every where; the poor rogues are hanged, and the rich ones baniſhed; there ought to be an equal law for both.

"Louis de Bracas, Count de Lauranguais, groaning, no doubt, under the yoke of the French government, reſolved to take up his reſidence in a foreign land; there he printed and publiſhed, in his own name, a book intitled, "An Extract of the public Laws of France," printed in London. A copy was ſent to M. de Maupeou, who, after having peruſed it, gave it to the Advocate General of the new Parliament, and upon his requiſitorical, an Arret was iſſued, condemning the book to be burnt by the hands of the common hangman, which was accordingly done. This Arret ſtigmatizes the book as falſe in its principles and conſequences, tending to excite diviſion and diſcord, &c."

Extract of another Letter from Paris, dated June 27.

"The juriſdiction of the conſuls, which judges of all commercial affairs, bills of exchange, orders, &c. without appeal, is the only one exiſting that has not been altered in the new code.

"The people have been jealous of this preference, and were reſolved to ſtop the courſe and execution of their ſentences. The day before yeſterday, two bailiffs, each of whom were attended by ſixty or eighty of their aſſiſtants, went to arreſt two perſons, the one in the Rue St. Honore, and the other in the Rue de Buffy. The populace roſe upon them, and inſiſted upon the releaſe of theſe unfortunate men. The officers made a ſtout reſiſtance for a long time, but were at laſt obliged to give way to their opponents, whoſe number was conſiderably increaſed. The officers of the guet (horſemen, called the city watch, who patrole the ſtreets at night) arrived with ſome detachments of ſoldiers, but were repulſed, upon which the French guards were ſent for. At their approach the people barricaded the ſtreets, to prevent their coming upon them, and appeared determined to repel force by force. The alarm ſoon ſpread all over the city; all the ſhops were ſhut up, and we ſaw ourſelves on the brink of a civil war; which is indeed what we expect from one moment to another. The officers of the guards, more ſagacious than thoſe of the guet, allayed the diſpute by fair means, and reſtored tranquility by conſenting to the enlargement of the priſoners. The bailiffs, more frightened than hurt, promiſed never to attempt for the future to put ſuch ſentences in execution; a few blows were ſtruck, but without any effuſion of blood.

"The Chancellor has juſt ſuppreſſed all the commiſſaries of Paris, (a ſort of magiſtrates like your juſtices of the peace) ſo that we have now [illegible] rogues left. The exempts of the police are inveſted with the authority. It is feared that the ſuppreſſion of their chief, the Lieutenant of Police, will follow, and that the care of the city of Paris will be entruſted to the military. A melancholy fore-runner of a total revolution, which is not apprehended."

LONDON, Auguſt 8. There will be no changes in the adminiſtration till after the meeting of Parliament, which will be ſooner than was expected.

A loan of 1,500,000l. is now negotiating among the monied men, for the uſe of her Imperial Majeſty.

The Endeavour ſloop, now fitting out at Woolwich, is ſaid to be intended for the Duke of Cumberland; and that her deſtination is for North-America, in haſte.

On Monday laſt an advice boat arrived at Falmouth, with diſpatches from Admiral Rodney at Madera. She has brought ſome very material intelligence which that gentleman has collected on his voyage.

The Engliſh Merchant, Rivers, for North-Carolina, is bulged and ſunk off the Scilly Iſlands.

The Right Honourable the Lord-Mayor hath poſtponed his going down to Rocheſter to take up his freedom of that City, on account of the grand entertainment of the Aldermen and Common-council, at the Manſion-Houſe, on Tueſday next.

SALEM, (New-England) AUGUST 27.

CAPTAIN EBENEZER WARD, in the Snow Endecot, who arrived here laſt Wedneſday, relates as follows: As I lay at the Grand Key on July 25, 1771, at or about three o'Clock, P. M. two Sloops came off the Road, one from New-London, bound to the Mole, which about ſix o'Clock bore away for ſaid Port: The other was the Sloop Sally, James M'Conner, Maſter, from Newbern, in North-Carolina, bound for Jamaica, who lay off and on till Half an Hour paſt ſeven, P. M. and then bore away for Jamaica, as he afterwards ſaid. He ordered the Courſe, when he bore away, S. by W. though the Reef was plain to be ſeen by him and Crew from the Deck and bore S. S. W. a little Weſterly, and the Salt Key the ſame: He was told by Thomas Abel, (as I was afterwards informed by ſaid Abel) who was at Helm at that Time, that that Courſe would carry him aſhore: His Anſwer was, Never do you mind, don't you fall off that Courſe: And at eight o'Clock, P. M. ſhe was faſt aſhore on the Reef, between Grand Key and Salt Key, and bore S. by W. from the Road. Thomas Abel, one of the ſaid Sloop's Hands, deſired of me a Paſſage, which I refuſed; my Reaſon for which was, ſo great a Rogue as he appeared, he ſhould not have it to ſay, that his Hands were gone, and he could not proceed further; for I heard that he intended to ſell his Veſſel, and told him (the Captain) that if he intended to ſell, I would ſend away my Snow, and ſtay and buy his Sloop: He told me no, he would take more Hands, and proceed to Hiſpaniola, though he goes on board and tells his Crew, he could get no more Hands, (as ſaid Abel told me) it was ſuppoſed to make them Run-away. Nicholas Frith, who was one of the Wreckers, informed me they pumped her out and ſucked her two or three Times: But the Captain forbid them, ſaying, he would ſave what he could for the Under-writers, and the harder ſhe lay the better for him. If any Diſputes ſhould happen, relative to the above, let thoſe concerned apply to the Agent and other Gentlemen at the Grand Key at Turks-Iſland. TO THE AMERICAN WORLD. "THE Inhabitants of this Continent have now an easy and advantageous Opportunity of effectually encouraging literary Manufactures in the British Colonies, at moderate Prices, calculated for this Meridian, the Establishment of which will absolutely and eventually produce mental Improvement, and commercial Expansion, with the additional Recommendation of positively saving Thousands of Pounds to and among the Inhabitants of the British Empire in America. Thus, the Importation of One Thousand Sets of Blackstone's Commentaries, manufactured in Europe, at Ten Pounds per Set, is sending very near Ten Thousand Pounds across the great Atlantic Ocean. Whereas, One Thousand Sets, manufactured in America, and sold at the small Price of Three Pounds per Set, is an actual saving of Seven Thousand Pounds to the Purchasers, and the identical Three Thousand Pounds which is laid out for our own Manufactures, is still retained in the Country, being distributed among Manufacturers and Traders, whose Residence upon the Continent, of Course causeth the Money to circulate from Neighbour to Neighbour; and by this Circulation in America, there is a great Probability of its revolving to the very Hands from which it originally migrated.

"American Gentlemen or Ladies who, at this Juncture, retain any Degrees of that ancient and noble, but now almost extinguished Affection, denominated Patriotism, and are more pleased to exemplify it by extending with Celerity and Alacrity their auspicious Patronage through the cheap Mode of reposing their Names and Residences (no Money expected until the Delivery of an Equivalent) with any Printer or Bookseller on the Continent, as intentional Purchasers of any of the literary Works now in Contemplation to be Re-printed by Subscription in America, will render an essential Service to the Community, by encouraging native Manufactures, and therefore deserve to be had in grateful Remembrance by their Country, by Posterity, and by their much obliged humble Servant, the Publisher."

They were pursued the next Morning, and tracked several Miles, making towards the Southward where it is imagined they are gone; and, as they have Friends and Relations about* Ponpon, it is likely they will be harboured there.

TO BE SOLD by private Contract,

THE HOUSE and LAND now in the Occupation of THOMAS SINGLETON, and commonly called the Bear-Inn.—It is well situated for a Tavern, lying on the South-West side of the Broad Road, leading from Kingstown; containing in Breadth on the said Road about 35 Feet, and in Depth 220 Feet. Treat with THOMAS L. & ROGER SMITH.

LANDS FOR SALE,

By public outcry, at the vendue-house in Charles-Town, on Thursday the 3d day of October next, at 12 o'clock,

A Tract on ACCABEE, one of the most beautifully situated country seats in this province, not more than seven miles from Charles-Town by land, and about the same distance by water. The whole contains four hundred acres, three hundred of which are in oak and pine wood, the rest in pasture under fence. The dwelling-house on it is of brick, with a large hall and parlour on the ground floor, and a passage and stairs in an entry between both; there are four bed-chambers above them, exclusive of the garret which has two unfinished rooms. The cellar is very convenient for a kitchen, being built and used for that purpose. On the south front of the house is a new piazza, which overlooks an unimproved garden quite down to the delightful river on which the whole is situated. Opposite to the house and garden, the river is computed to be upwards of a mile wide, and abounds with a variety of fish, oysters, &c. As there is plenty of wood, bricks may be made to advantage, and the number now at the landing will be a sufficient recommendation of the quality of the clay, &c. Vast quantities of lime may likewise be burnt, the shell banks being very contigious to the landings, and the wood not far to cart.

A Tract at STONO, St. Paul's parish, butting and bounding, eastward and southward on lands belonging to the estate of the late Robert McKewn, Esq; and lands of James Stanyarne, Esq; westward and northward on lands of Mr. Isaac Nichols, deceased, and Algernon Wilson, Esq.

This Tract contains four hundred acres, and is principally adapted for the culture of indico, corn, &c. the soil being loose and fertile, it will also answer for most European grain; about seventy acres has been cleared, and a tolerable plantation house on it, but being rented out to several tenants, shotmakers, &c. it has been much abused, and at present is out of repair. It is well timbered with oak and pine, and its distance from the public landing at Friend Town, scarce exceeds two miles.

Another Tract at STONO, about a mile nearer the public landing than the above, containing by a re-survey three hundred and seventy-five acres, butting and bounding north-eastwardly on land belonging to William Elliott, Esq; (called Winners;) north westwardly on land belonging to the estate of Robert McKewn, Esq; south-eastwardly on lands belonging to Frederick Grimke Esq; and south-westwardly on lands belonging to Charles Elliott, Esq. This is a very compact tract, fit for indico, corn and rice; a great part of this small tract is in wood of oak, hickory, and pine, and affords good cooper stuff for any of the adjacent rice plantations. On it is a pretty good dwelling house, now rented to Mr. Joseph Dandridge.

A long credit will be given, if desired, paying interest from the delivery of the titles.

BARNARD ELLIOTT.

RUN-AWAY from the subscriber, about eight months ago, a negro fellow named HARRY, this country born, and well known both in town and country; he is supposed to be harboured near Ashley River. Whoever will apprehend, and deliver the said negro to the subscriber, at Indian Land, or to the warden of the work-house in Charles-Town, shall receive a reward of TEN POUNDS currency, and all reasonable charges paid them. And whoever will give information upon oath, of his being harboured by any white person, shall receive a reward of FIFTY POUNDS currency. All masters of vessels, and others, are forewarned not to carry said fellow off the province.
